"NORMANBY"

The Normanby left Moreton Bay on August Ith at 10 p.m., immediately after receiving her mails; made a good run to Keppel Bay, and, after a detention of two hours, resumed her passage thence at 10 a.m. on Monday 13th; had a light fair breeze all day, keeping up about ten knots. At half past nine p.m. she suddenly struck a rock. The pilot in charge being at his post on the bridge, Cantain Reddell at once took command on dook, singing out, "Boat stations," and half lowered and the momentary conabla beach, which was reached in about twenty the donkey engine managed to pump the aftercompartment, clear of what water leaked through the joints of the fore compartments, and the ship was in comparative safety for the time,

DICTIONARY, WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have to late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, -photography, telegraphy. and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accounts being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously ttained, and dispensing with those vast margins | Mercantile, and General Offices. and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. For practical purposes the arrangement of $5; or, with the Lists of Residents, Port Directhe work is so complete, that a reference to its tories, Maps, &c., at $3: pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who Orders for Copies may be sent to the Daily understand nothing but Chinese.
